Sequani is a UK based CRO with its heritage dating back over 40 years. We are positioned at the forefront of pharmaceutical and biotechnology product developments and chemical safety testing. Bursting with experience, excellence and expertise, we take pride in offering superior value for money, greater flexibility and speed of response- turning data into decisions and defining the way forward. We thrive upon joining our clients upon their mission to achieve high quality data derived by undertaking each project to the highest regulatory standard. Our flexibility, adaptability, strategic programme management and scientific rigour guarantees our customer satisfaction.

Our Programme Managers are scientists and have ready access to all of the scientific resources within the company, including internationally acknowledged experts who can assist in the resolution of scientific, technical and regulatory issues.

Where a customer places a package of studies with Sequani, we can assign a Programme Manager as the primary contact for customers, allowing for all queries to be dealt with swiftly across multiple areas. The Programme Manager can also enable direct communication with study directors, other study scientists and anyone involved in the study. This single point of contact means that entire programmes can be expertly co-ordinated, including external phases conducted at third-party facilities.

Our Programme Managers have many years of experience in the industry and have proven skills in the management of complex multi-disciplinary and multi-location programmes. They are fully supported by an infrastructure designed to ensure good communication and an effective team-based approach.

Our aim is to provide a comprehensive, responsive and professional service in a league of its own in the contract research industry. We aim to become an extension to our client's own project team, providing the following services.
